

A SONG CAN CHANGE YOUR LIFE
MARK MASRI- AMY SKY

You tell me you feel the world we live in
Forever been a cold and lonely place
You tell me that you've lost the will to try
To hope that you will find a saving grace
But I know that the world is of our making
That we will find the truth that we believe

CHORUS

And a song can change your life
A word can open doors
A melody can take us where we've never been before
A song can change your life

You don't know what's waiting round the corner
The place that lived shadow becomes light
A breath of time and in the merest moment
We start to see the end of endless night
And life is full of gifts there for the taking
As long as we are willing to try

A song can change your life
A word can open doors
A melody can take us where we've never been before
A song can change your life

A word can open doors
A melody can take us where we've never been before
